Poetry.

Talking to Myself.

I'm vexed with myself and at war with my kind,
And the men I'm both loving and hating:
For I see plain enough, as I'm not very blind,
That the doom of the spinster is waiting.

"Old maid!" How I hate it! But what's to be done;
I know that I'm "odd-like" and "cranky;"
But why should that drive away each mother's son
That I'm trying to gobble, and thankee?

Yet no; not so bad as that. Just let me think;
I'm not quite a fool, even pretty;
And one would have had me as quick as he'd wink,
And another adored me in ditty.

But then, (as I said,) not being a fool,
I was not to be caught the first offer.
The one, a good fellow, but dull as a mule,
The other the devil's worst proffer!

And one I'd have had—that's true as you live
But the fellow was false, or got frightened;
What heart I possessed I was ready to give,
But he slipped from the noose ere 'twas tightened.

I've sighted the line, like a sailor, I know,
Becalmed in the doldrums of thirty;
While backward my gaze, in despite, seems to go,
And I feel rather frigid than flirty.

But why should the seal of the virgin be mine,
Who've got no ambition to wear it?
I know that I'm skillful in baiting a line,
But the minnows of men seem to fear it.

Yet I'm no impudent, angling coquette,
But quiet, demure, and far-seeing;
I'm gay with the young when alone with that set,
And grave with the opposite being.

In fact, I'm rather inclined to be "blue,"
But haven't had time to read up to it;
Delight to take tea with the black-letter crew,
But it looks so old'maidish to sup through it;

For it lessens one's chances of catching a beau
That's young, wise, and handsome and witty;
And though I might squeeze with another to go,
To shatter one's ideal's a pity.

Well, Well! it may be that my chances are gone,
That the "isms" and the "new-lights" will get me;
But this do I know, that my part was well done,
And I'd be a good wife if they'd let me.

ONTARIO.

Selected Story.

Thirty Proposals.

A MINER'S LOVE STORY.

"You don't say that is his wife? Well, she is a stunner, and no mistake. I confess to an overwhelming curiosity concerning that marriage. Why, in the States he was considered an inveterate bachelor. Somehow he never cared to go round with the girls as the rest of us did; but always took his mother everywhere and waited upon her as though she had been the Queen of England. All the girls liked him, and if he ever ventured where they were, they would flutter around him, but it was plain enough he never gave them a second thought.

"His mother used to say: 'If my son ever marries 'twill be a very superior woman, quite different from the girls one ordinarily meets.'

"When we heard at home that he was married, the girls said a little spitefully, I reckon: 'There must be a one wonderful woman in California' and they hoped she would be 'superior' enough to teach the old bachelor a lesson or two. How is it, is she likely to?"

"Well, there's more to her than you'd think at first sight. She must be real gold herself, or she would never have appreciated our friend. He is solid and substantial, but not very showy. I've known him intimately for years, and I never knew him to say or do a mean thing. He deserves his good luck, and I will own it; though, to be honest, I wanted that woman for my wife, and have not reached a point yet where I can take much pleasure in thinking of the wedding. Come over here under the trees and I'll tell you how it came about; but you'd better not let on you know it, for 'tis a sort of understood thing, that we are supposed to keep it on the square, and it is rather a tender subject to us boys.

"It was the summer of '60, we lived over in the cannon I was telling you about; there were thirty of us in the gang, and we had four cabins, with a store house; which was general property. We all worked hard through the week, and on Sunday did our washing and caught our house work up a little. I suppose we should have been called a hard set, but we were not any tougher than men generally who get a living by themselves for a year or two.

"Eight of us camped together, and each of us had as distinct an individuality as though we represented different nations. Somehow we had acquired a soubriquet which was acknowledged to be characteristic, and we were called by it in camp to the complete ignoring of our real names.

"There was Hal Winterton, a Southerner and a fierce secessionist; we called him 'South Carolina.' Dave Austin, a Connecticut man and a regular sell, we called 'Nutmegs.' 'Dandy' stuck to Charlie Chapin, for he was a natural fop. Then there was Ned Simpson, a genuine 'Aunt Betty;' you'd know his name at the first glimpse without my saying a word. Otis Allen would faint if he jammed his finger or had a sight of blood. He was 'Our Baby.' Jack Cummings was a wag, and he certainly deserved his cognomen, 'Jack the Wicked.' Jim Woodruff was known all over the country by the appellation of 'Judge;' and your humble servant, from his black eyes, swarthy complexion and jetty locks, perhaps something, too, in my manner, was styled "Senor."

"Well, we were a good-natured set of fellows, always making allowances for each others' peculiarities, and never having any friction in the camp. Sometimes I used to think we joked "Aunt Betty and "Our Baby" rather unmercifully, but a word from our "Judge" would straighten us at once.

"If one was sick, we all took a turn about in watching and nursing but the Judge was one that knew just what to do, and was always near to do it. Tender and patient as a woman, we all honored him and held him a little higher in our estimation than we did any one else in the camp.

"I forgot to tell you that a mouth before, and when "Dandy" and "Aunt Betty" were not of our number, we had in their place Will Browning, who was equal to two men any day. Good to work and good to play, as smart as need be, and and true to the core. I think most any of us would have been glad to have gone with Will over the mountains, but he said, "No, stay where you are, boys; you are doing well, and if I find anything better I will let you know at once. Then come all hands of you, and it will be a jolly time when we get together again."

You know it wasn't the pleasantest traveling in the world to get around two years ago.

We hadn't heard a word from Will, though he had been gone for a long time. Several letters had come for him, but of course, we couldn't forward them having no idea of his whereabouts, and we had come to the conclusion that he would walk in upon us some time dead broke, and cured of his roving disposition. We had finished work one day, and had supped off three B's, as we called our beans, and bacon and bread; the table stood just where we had left it, for you know that miners are not very fastidious in their motions. We were sitting on a long bench which reached across one end of our cabin, talking over the day's work and speculating on what the boys were doing over to the left side of us, when all at once a woman stood in our cabin door.

Now a woman in those days was a curiosity among bucks here among the hills, and there were men in our camp who hadn't set eyes on one for better than two years. She stood still just looking at us. I don't know what the rest thought, but Aunt Betty said afterward "that it seemed like a warnin to some of us," and he was wondering whose time had come The Judge sat on the edge of the bench, and he arose and took off his hat. Our pants were tied about our waists and tucked in no very careful manner into our rubber boot legs. Add to our costume, eight faces unshaven and unshorn for weeks, and you catch some idea of our general appearance.

The pale light of our sputtering candle added to the weirdness of the scene, and when "Jack the Wicked" murmured, "To your knees, boys, all at once," I guess we were all more that half inclined to obey. The Judge recovered himself quickest, and advanced toward the door. "I wish to see my brother, Will Browning, I heard he was here," said the most musicial voice I ever heard.

"He was here a few months ago," replied the Judge., "but we do not know where he is now. How did you come and where are your friends?"

"I come through the valley and shadow of death, I should think, for I am nearly dead with hunger, and for friends, I have the gloomiest old teamster you ever saw; though I thought it was rare good luck when I found him. and he engaged to take me up here to Will. I paid him every cent of money I had, and I haven't had a mouthful for days but bacon, and is there any hotel within a short distance? If not perhaps there is some good woman who would let me stay with her until I can get word to Will."

I guess every man hugged to himself the thought that she would be obliged to stop with us awhile; even the Judge didn't look very sorry, though he professed to feel dreadfully for her dilemma.

He said, and I am sure his full rich voice must have seemed a tower of strength to her: "Will is a dear friend of ours, and if you will kindly allow us the honor of protecting his sister until he can be communicated with, we should be under great obligations to you. We must look very odd to you; but we claim to be gentlemen, and I assure you that we can and will make you comfortable."

She had a perplexed look on her face when the Judge told her there was no woman living near; but she was mistress of the situation in a moment, and said demurely, though with a sly sparkle. "Oh, I shall be comfortable enough, but shan't I be troubling you terrible?"

Every one spoke at once "No trouble, not the least." And then Dandy said: "Judge, if you was to introduce us to the lady perhaps she would feel more at ease with us."

The Judge must have been awfully smitten at first sight, or he would not have been guilty of introducing us by our camp titles. As it was, he said, 'Miss Browning, allow me to introduce to you Will's friend, Mr. South Carolina;' He advanced as he was called, and in the most chivalric manner bowed over the lady's extended hand. "This is Mr. Nutmeg, another friend of your brother."

He bowed stiffly and everywhere but at her. "Aunt Betty, did you know Will? I believe you didn't; but he will be a friend all the same to you, Miss Browning."

"You can bet your life on that every time," said Aunt Betty, and we were all ready to split by that time, the Judge looked so dignified doing the honors of the occasion in such a happy manner, as he no doubt thought.

He continued: "That is Mr. Dandy;" I wish you could see the bowing and scraping. By that time she had taken in the drollery of the thing, and when Dandy bowed so profoundly, swept him a courtesy that liked to have finished him on the spot,

"Senor and Will were sworn allies; we used to call them David and Jonathan.

"She smiled and asked, Which are you? And for the first and only time in my life I did not know what to say, but I stammered out, 'Either, ma'am.' There was something like a snicker from our company, but the Judge had no eyes or ears for any one but her; so he kept on and with a wave of the hand presented 'Our Baby.' The great six footer looked for all the world as though he would put up lip and cry, until Miss Browning said, 'How do you do, dear? Can he talk?' and then he blurted out, 'My name is Otis Allen.'

"Jack got the start of them, and stepping in front of them, said in tragic tones, 'Jack the Wicked,' known all over the Pacific coast for my diabolical acts—and let me assist our friend—this is the Judge, who is a terror of all evil doers and the protector of distressed innocents, wherever and whenever they have the good fortune to fall into his hands.'

"Yes,' said the Judge, with the most imperturable gravity; and now you know us all, and must consider us your obedient servants.'

"She laughed a low rippling laugh and said, 'Yes, I am sure I know you all now, and I should like to shake hands all round; it would give me a sort of a home feeling, and you would feel better acquainted with me, I guess.'

"She began with the Judge, and he looked, while he held her hand, as though he had been translated.

"She's got an awful lot of magnetism about her, I tell you; my arm and hand thrill now when I think of that first hand clasp. We hadn't a chair in the cabin, but we gave her our best three legged stool. She took off her jaunty hat and sack, and each one sprang to take them. She didn't seem to notice us, but left them lying in her lap. She told us she had some baggage a little way from our house; she had left it there so as to walk in upon Will unannounced, and instead of finding her dear old Will, she had stumbled upon such a lot of friends.

"Can you give me something real good to eat?" and she glanced at the table, with its dirty dishes and the scanty remains of our supper. That table was cleared off in a jiffy; a plate was washed and a can of chicken opened. Aunt Betty made a cup of tea, and another stirred up some flap-jacks, and another of us thought to scour a knife and fork by running them into the ground several times. Oh, they were lively times for a few minutes you'd better believe. Only the Judge—he never moved, but looked right at her. She did not seem to notice him, but watched our operations with great interest.

While she ate—and the quaintness of our surrounding did not affect her appetite—we all stood round and waited upon her. I guess never a day she lived with us but what she laughed about her first meal there.

We partitioned her off a bed room in one corner by putting up some blankets, and all but the Judge and Aunt Betty went into the storehouse to sleep.

"You'd think that when we got there we should be likely to talk over the wonderful event, but we didn't; not a word was spoken concerning it. But I reckon there was considerable thinking done in that one night.

"By light we were all up and pacing in front of the cabin. The teamster had given notice of the charge he had left with us, and all the other boys were over there to learn how things were. There wasn't a stroke of work done in that camp that day, and not much for a week.

"Then the Judge called us together and told us 'twouldn't do; we were getting demoralized; that Mis Browning was unhappy because she felt she had interrupted our arrangements, and we must come right down to steady day's work after that. Well we tried to, but we could never get back to old times. There was a good deal of rivalry amongst us, and some cutting things were said. The judge sent letters in all directions for Will, but three weeks had passed without a word in reply. We had all in turn offered to accompany Miss Brown to San Francisco, but she said she knew no one there; Will would be sure to come before long, and would be so disappointed if she should leave; besides, hadn't she eight of the very best brothers in the world? She would stay a while longer, and she would help cook and mend for us, so as not to burden us too much. She had a few new books she had bought for Will, and she would read to us evenings. We came up an hour earlier than usual, and our table was always ready for us, and it had many an extra touch that none but a woman would think of. We were a silent set of men during the day, but each did his best when we got home. Stories were told, songs were sung, and with her reading we were all entranced. She always called us by the names which were first given her, and ever so many times she went through the introduction, acting out all the parts. It seemed funnier to her than it did to us. She talked with South Carolina about the beauties of the southern sky, and of the flowers and trees which eclipsed anything at the north. To Nutmeg she praised New England and she had some favorite topic to discuss with each of us.

"Of course we were all in love with her, but none dared boast of having received any sign of peference from the lady. We had all proposed to her once, and some of us a half a dozen times. She just made light of it; said we were crazy, and didn't know what we were about, but she came to know after a while that we did.

"There was open war. We all acted like mad men, except the Judge; he would not answer any of our taunts, but was most pleasant to all. Yet he grew to look real careworn, and everytime he met any of us alone he would say he hoped Will would would come soon. He talked to us about keeping the peace; and appealed to our honor as men and our love for our old comrade. Kate herself had a quiet little talk with each one. I don't know how she managed it but she left the impression upon us all that we were more likely to be accepted if we behaved ourselves and kept quiet; but 'twas no go—we couldn't.

"One evening she refused to sit down with us to the table, and so little was eaten. She walked up and down the room and then said emphatically, 'I'm going off. I don't know where, but I must go away; this is getting unbearable. I cannot meet one of you but I am importuned to marry you. Don't you know, gentlemen, I cannot marry you all, and if I choose to show one bit of pleasure in the society of any one the rest are all angry. Now I ask you what shall I do? Will doesn't come, and I am all alone. I wish you would drop all this nonsense and behave yourselves. Why won't you?'

"She looked from one to the other, and finally asked of Jack, 'Come you own to being wicked, and you've been an awful tease; won't you reform, and then all the rest will?'

"Aunt Betty said, 'If you care for any of us, make it known, and then the rest shall behave, or—there will be a row.'

"That's just it—you will fight any way, you are getting so savage. In being lovers I am afraid you have forgotten to be gentlemen,"

"Wasn't that a stinger for us? But we didn't feel it then as we have since. We all promised we would not say a word after her decision was made known to us. And each one may have felt a little elated thinking he was likely to be chosen."

"She sat down and put her face on her arm, but it was only for a minute. Then she said: I shall ask for two days to think of it. Next Sunday there will be a wedding here, and a supper afterwards, which we will all help to prepare. If any one speaks to me on the subject between this time and that his doom is sealed."

"There was an oldish man over at the next cabin who had seemed to have a kind of fatherly care over Kate. And I might as well say here that all of the thirty who were unmarried, had offered themselves to her and been peremptorily refused."

"Well, Kate and old man Howe had a long talk together, and then he went off and did not get back until Sunday, and he brought a minister with him. There was some kind of service in the afternoon out under the trees, but none of us paid much attention. Our eyes were all for Kate, and she was crying softly all the time. When it was over, she took the preacher's arm and talked with him some time. Then she went into our cabin, and we all followed. Mean, wasn't it? But we didn't see it in that light then. The man took the Bible from his pocket and said, 'This lady informs me that you have promised to abide quietly by her decision, and to dwell in peace and harmony together. For her sake you will not object to come here one by one, and take an oath which I shall dictate. It is that you reiterate your promise with a hand on this sacred book."

"We advanced and received it as solemnly as though it was to be the last of our lives. Then he told us that Miss Browning was very much attached to us all, but of course could marry but one, and we must bear our disappointment like men.

"She went and stood beside him. I thought she would faint, but did not. We all arose when the minister said—"Let us pray.' When he was part through, the Judge sat down, completely overcome by his feelings. I am free to say that this was the longest prayer I ever heard. If the minister had been suspended between heaven and the other place, as we were, he would have had fewer words, I am sure.

"When it was over he said: I am here to solemn marriage between Catharine F. Browning (he must have felt an inward chuckle over the torture he was inflicting, for he paused, well, may be only a minute, but it seemed an hour,) and James A. Woodruff. If any of you know cause or just impediment why these two persons should not be joined in holy matrimony you are to declare it now, or else forever hold your peace."

"Jim had not stirred a step, The minister took his hand and placed him beside the bride. He walked up then, and I guess the look he gave her satisfied her, for her face cleared up like a summer sky after a rain.

"The brief service was soon over that made the Judge a happy Benedict, and us, perhaps, bachelors for life.

"Jim looked up so earnst at us: "Boys, I do not deserve this happiness as much as either of you; but it has fallen to me, and I will do my best to make her happy. Will you not wish us Good speed?' and he held out his hand. Each of us was man enough to walk up and take it and the little brown hand which had been given to Jim.

"Then we had supper. There wasn't much eaten, yet we all lived through it; but none of us have felt much hankering after weddings since, I reckon."

REPUBLICAN MEETING.—All the citizens of this county who are opposed to the Convention as called by the last Legislature are requested to meet at the Court House in Elizabeth City on Saturday the 1st day of July, 1871, at 10 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate "Against Convention." Speeches will be made by Hon. John Pool, Hon. C. L. Cobb and other prominent citizens.

Chairman Executive Committee.

OUR THIRD VOLUME.

With this number begins the third volume of the NORTH CAROLINIAN. Two years ago we launched our little barque on the sea of journalism. It was an experiment. Wise heads shook with distrust and candid friends were frank enough to warn us that probably the fate of those who "had gone this way before" was in store for us; that this was not a congenial soil for newspapers to prosper in; that after short and sickly lives they always dwindled and died. The outlook was not the most encouraging—the future before us seemed uncertain. But having been brought up in the school that knows no failure, "paddling our own canoe" from the days of our boyhood, we determined to work, to do our duty, to make our paper useful, instructive and interesting—in short to devote our entire energies in so identifying it with the interests of this people that they could not do without it.

In addition we resolved to test two things: 1st, whether a live, wide-awake, progressive newspaper could be sustained in Eastern North Carolina, and 2d, whether Northern people could safely invest and settle here, welcomed, respected and protected in every right—social, religious and political—they enjoyed at home. We are now prepared to answer both questions, and we do it AFFIRMATIVELY. The success of the NORTH CAROLINIAN is evidence of the first, and the settlement of over three hundred Northern people here is a fair answer to the second.

The past is now before the people of this section. They are by this time acquainted with us and with our notions of what a country newspaper should be. As for the future, we have no special pledges or promises to make, further than that the Volume just closed may be taken as an index of what the one we are now entering on may be expected to be.

MINORITY REPRESENTATION.

The subject of minority representation is begining to attract considerable attention. It was first prominently agitated by our former townsman, Ex-Senator C. R. BUCKALEW, in Bloomsburg, Pa. The Legislature of Pennsylvania passed a special act for the election of the municipal officers of that borough in March, 1870. The clause authorizing it was as follows:

"When six persons are to be chosen, each voter may give one vote to each of the six candidates—one vote and a half to each of four candidates, two votes to each of three, three votes to each of two, or six votes to one."

The experiment proved a success, giving entire satisfaction to all parties. The editors of the place thus speak of it:

"It is readily comprehended by voters when they come to deposit their ballots. It is of complete convenience in all cases, and it is just in its operation, giving to every considerable interest representation according to its relative strength."

Since then the principle has been extended by the Legislature to all the boroughs organized or to be organized in accordance with the general law. It is believed that it will become popular in that State.

This is a system of securing minority representation by means of what is called cumulative voting, or "the free vote." The principle is attracting considerable attention as a means of political reform. It has been incorporated in the new constitution of Illinois, and has been in practice in Denmark and Switzerland. The object is to secure the representation of minorities.

The public mind is in no condition to be annoyed and harrassed by a Convention. It wants rest, quiet, peace. Our State has suffered in all material interests by the devastation of war, but her Constitution is strong and, if left alone, those wounds will heal by the ordinary course of nature. Do not let us reopen them. Do not let us add burthens to her crippled strength.

SOUTHERN CLAIMS COMMISSION.—John Minor, Fayetteville; J. M. Foote, Plymouth; Hon. Joseph Dixon, Newbern; Dr. Pritchard, Charlotte, have been appointed special Commissioners to take testimony in North Carolina, and Jeremiah G. Frazier, at Nashville, Tennessee, and John Osborne at Alexandria, Louisiana.

The Iowa Democracy join their friends in Pennsylvania and Ohio in the "New Departure." It is evident, however, from the elabrate platform which they have promulgated that they find Jordan a hard road to travel.

A cross old bachelor suggests the births should be announced under the head of the new music.

THE REPRESENTATIVE RESPONSIBLE TO THE PEOPLE.

Ours in a People's Government. It was founded by the people and for the people. They believed, however, that it should be representative in form, and that these agents or representatives should be held responsible for their acts and accountable to their constituents. Experience has demonstrated that, in intelligent countries, this form of government is wise, is safe, is best. And it is a good sign in our political horizon that there is a constant watchfulness of the constituency—the people—upon the acts of those to whom they delegate this power. It shows that not all the exacting cares of business, intensified by the freedom which opens every avenue of advancement to all alike, can confuse or turn away the public attention from the manner in which the public man performs his public duties. And while this is true, it is also true that our people demand a higher grade of average public virtue than any other people on earth, and a higher standard than it would seem possible to attain taking the average standard of morals in our own and in other lands.

While this high requirement of the masses causes many disappointments, it also shows that the devotion to fundamental principles in our country is deep and fervent. So highly do we prize the abstract purity of our principles of Government, that, like all devotees, we surround political every-day actions with the idea of purity these teach, and sometimes demand a practical virtue scarcely consonant with unregenerate human nature. A dreamer in Reform once said to the distinguished THADDEUS STEVENS, when in the zenith of his fame, "Why do you not wield the mighty power you hold for such legislation as shall make our country immediately and entirely free?" "Because," replied the veteran Statesman, "I am legislating for men and not angels—and an attempt to move faster than mankind will destroy any man and any cause." The old Commoner was wise "in his day and generation." He understood that this Government, after all, was of, by and for the people; that their will made their representatives and legislators; that all were accountable to them; that the man representing them was bound to do so in good faith. If he did not he was, at the next election, left "out in the cold" and another selected to fill his place.

To come back to where we started, we repeat that ours is a government of the people. Every public man is responsible to them for his official conduct. Where he proves recreant and ignores the popular will legally expressed let him be set aside. Let it be understood that legislators and public officers will be held to a strict accountability, and a still better class of both will be the result. Let the people of North Carolina mark the men who, having received their suffrages, have deceived them and "gone back" on their pledges. When the nominating time comes let there be care exercised in selecting men who are competent and reliable. A man having once deceived you, it is folly to give him the second chance.

A MISTAKEN IDEA.

Too many fond parents make grave mistakes with their boys. They imagine that it is a disgraceful thing to labor in the mechanical arts, and that their offspring can much bettter push their way through this world without an honest trade than with one. That this notion of late years has largely prevailed is fully evinced in the fact that the professions are all over stocked; book keepers are a thousand per cent in excess over the demand for their services, and multitudes of young men are idle, waiting Micawber like, for something to turn up, while the want of good mechanics is sadly felt all through the country.

The man who has a good trade has a fortune, go where he will, and the parents or guardians who had the wisdom and foresight to afford him it, bestowed upon him a priceless legacy. Do not misunderstand us. We are not among those who believe in acquiring a trade and sticking to it under all circumstances through life, for men develop their capacities in different ways and should act in accordance with the dictates of their judgement as how best to make a living competency; but a proficiency in any trade is a good capital stock to fall back upon whenever necessary.

If parents would give this subject more study and abandon the pernicious notion that their children are born natural lawyers, doctors, clerks, teachers and book keepers, and have them all learn good, congenial trades, society would be all the better and happier, and much loss in voluntary idleness would exist among those who aim to do everything in general and nothing in particular.

IN A QUANDARY.

In reading our Democratic exchanges North and South we see that the party is not united. Two platforms are proposed for the Democratic contest in 1872. So far as an outsider can judge from the glimpses which the uninitiated are permitted to get, these two "departures" might be called the platform of franknes and the platform of fraud. The party is evidently at a loss which to take. A cotemporary aptly remarks that it stands at the point where the two roads meet, with a meditative finger on the lip, perplexed "which of the two to choose, slavery or death!" The VALLANDIGHAM platform means the former; the platform the Mobile Register and the Southern red hot Democracy means the latter.

The general assembly can call a convention by not less than two thirds of the voters of all the members of each house. Cannot the people do it by a majority of their own votes? Who so ignorant or so bold or reckless as to say nay?—Correspondent of Sentinel.

The late Judge GASTON, Chief Justice RUFFIN and other great men in this State were "so ignorant, so bold and so reckless as to say nay." What fools, to be sure, these illustrious lawyers were, compared with the new lights of to day.

The Democracy talk of "honesty" in their platform.—Exchange.

That is a "new departure" sure.

WANT OF HARMONY.

It is amusing in conversing with different advocates of a Convention to learn the diversity of opinion existing respecting the changes needed in the Constitution. One wants one thing, another wants the very opposite. One man thinks the mode of electing the judiciary ought to be changed, another thinks our Judges should be appointed for life. Again we hear a man insisting upon qualified suffrage, and the next man we meet opposing any change in this respect but contends for imprisonment for debt and the restoration of the whipping post. And so on to the end. There is a want of agreement. This being so what may we expect from such discordant elements should the Convention be called.

The professional politicians prate about the people. Did the people inaugurate this Convention movement? Not a bit of it. Suppose the Convention is called, will the people be there? Will that body not be composed of their agents—their representatives, just as the Legislature is? Then the Convention will be just as far removed from the people as the Legislature now is. And so far as the direct act of the people is concerned what is gained by a Convention over the Legislature? Will some wise Conventionist please inform us?

Of the five hundred and sixteen Acts passed by the late Legislature, at least three hundred and fifty are useless and perfectly indefensible. Indeed some of them are palpable violations of the spirit and letter of the Constitution. What a record the so called Conservative party have made.

The Republicans of Ohio met in State Convention on the 21st and nominated Gen. EDWARD F. NOYES of Cincinnatti, for Governor by acclamation. The proceedings were harmonious, the platform adopted sound, and the party a unit.

THREE SUCCESSFUL GIRLS. By JULIA CROUCH. New-York: HURD & HOUGHTON.—In this volume is told the story of three country-bred girls who set out into the world with an earnest determination to accomplish something. After going through the inevitable experience of hope and disappointment, they finally win success, one in literature, one in art, and one in domestic life. The lesson of the book is salutary and one that girls of this day have need of—that a steady purpose and persevering effort are no more unbecoming to them than to the hardier sex, and that in the end they may gain a success worth striving for. The style of the book is quiet, but interesting and attractive.

HIT. By MARY E. WALKER, M. D. New-York: American News Company.—Dr. Mary E. Walker treats in this volume, from her own peculiar stand-point, several questions of real importance in social reform, and it is no more than fair that what she has to say should be respectfully listened to. She deals with "Love and Marriage," "Dress Reform," "Tobacco," "Temperance," "Woman's Franchise," and other topics of a similar nature, in a manner not altogether wise and philosophical, perhaps, but one that shows an honest desire to effect what she conceives to be reform and improvement in the condition of society.

Correspondence.

Death of J. B. Shepard, Esq..

We learn that James B. Shepard, Esq., died in Raleigh, on Saturday, the 17th inst.

Mr. S. was a son of William Shepard, of New Berne, and brother to the late Hon. Wm. B. Shepard, who represented the Edenton District in Congress and Pasquotank and Perquimans counties in the Senate of the General Assembly of this State. He graduated at the University of North Carolina in 1834, represented Wake in the Senate in 1842, and was one of the Commoners from the same county in 1844. In 1846, he was the Democratic candidate for Governor, and in 1855, the "American" candidate for Congress from the Metropolitan district, but, sharing the fate of his party, was defeated, for the Gubernatorial chair, by Hon. Wm. A. Graham, and for Congressional honors, by Gen. L. O'B. Branch. He never afterwards took an active part in political matters. Mr. S. was, we are told, about fifty-eight years of age, a widower, and leaves a sister, (Mrs. John H. Bryan,) and son, the latter now in Europe. G.

A Visit to a School.

E. CITY, N. C., June 26, 1871.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

Taking it for granted that your readers are interested in all matters pertaining to education, I will give you a short account of the closing exercises of Mr. J. Q. A. Wood's school, which took place in Mt. Hermon Township on the 23d of this month.

The forenoon was devoted to the examination of the pupils in the various branches they have studied. The accuracy and readiness with which they answered the questions propounded reflected credit both upon them and their teacher. In spelling, grammar and mathematics, and especially in the last they displayed a proficiency, that for children so young, was truly astonishing. Indeed if the recitations of Friday are fair indices of the progress of Mr. Wood's pupils, the people of Mt Hermon have reason to congratulate themselves on being so fortunate as to secure his services.

In the afternoon the scholars, numbering thirty in all, delivered declamations. Their elocution and pronunciation was much above ordinary. When the declamations were over Mr. Wood made a few appropriate remarks expressive of his gratification at the excellent deportment of his pupils, and the progress they had made in their studies. The last but by no means the least feature in the exercises, was a Picnic given the children by their parents as a reward for their obedience and diligence. Cakes, Candies and other "good things" were distributed in the greatest profusion, and were discussed by the little folks with much zest and enjoyment. The festivities were only brought to a close by the approach of evening, when all left the school house for their homes, acknowledging that they had seldom been more agreeably entertained.

SPECTATOR.

Republican Meeting in Perquimans County.

At a meeting of the Republicans and citizens, opposed to the present legislative call of a Convention, held in Hertford on the 24th day of June, 1871:

On motion, Hon Elihu A. White was called to the Chair, and U. W. Speight and J. Robt. Darden appointed Secretaries.

On motion, a Committee was appointed, consisting of three delegates from each Township in the county, to nominate a Candidate for the proposed Convention.

The Committee retired, and in a few minutes reported the name of Hon. J. W. Albertson, whom they had selected to bear the Republican banner.

On motion, the nomination was declared unanimous, and Mr. A. in answer to loud and repeated calls, appeared, and ably and eloquently addressed the meeting in a speech of two hours, and retired amidst the most enthusiastic applause.

Col. D. McD. Lindsey, being called upon, followed Mr. Albertson, in a short, but pertinent and appropriate speech.

On motion, the thanks of the meeting were tendered the Chairman and Secretaries.

It was ordered that the proceedings be sent to the Elizabeth City NORTH CAROLINIAN and the Raleigh Era for publication.

On motion, the meeting adjourned.

Europe.

From the papers of the 20th we learn that indications of a renewal of the insurrection are said to multiply in Paris The soldiers are openly insulted by the working classes. Twenty-five hundred have been convicted of incendiarism, and sentenced to trransportation to New Caledonia. The Imperial-Guard is to be reorganized as the Republican Guard. The Assembly, yesterday, passed a bill enabling natives of Alsace and Lorraine living in France to vote and to sit in the Assembly. M. Favre announced that 180,000 prisoners still remained in Germany, but they were returning at the rate of 3,5000 a day. The parents of Gen. Rossel have implored mercy for their son of M. Thiers, but the President says the law must take its course. The Press continue to attack the Bonapartists.

From the papers of the 21st we learn that Prince Napoleon has accepted the candidature for the Assembly from Corsica. Corpses are daily discovered in the ruined houses of Paris. The progress of restoration in Paris is active. The Bank of France has resumed the publication of its returns. It was officially announced yesterday in the House of Commons that immediate notice would be given to British claimants under the Treaty of Washington to file their proofs before the Commission created by the treaty within six months. In the House of Lords, last night, Earl Granville stated that April 9, 1865, the date of Gen. Lee's surrender, had been accepted as the close of the war, but he thought claims arising subsequent to that would be considered. The Italian Minister in Brussels has, it is said, received letters terminating his missioe to Belgium, Victor Emmanuel has returned to Florence without visiting Rome. All is quiet in Rome. Several Ministerial changes have taken place in Turkey.

From the papers of the 22nd we learn that in the French Assembly President Thiers made a speech criticising severely the policy of Napoleon, and the course of M. Gambetta in not making peace when the failure of the Army of the Loire was demonstrated. He also reviewed the financial condition of the country, and suggesting means of paying the indemnity, which ought to be done speedily. M. Thiers' speech produced a good effect, especially the part relating to the increase of the sinking fund by 200,000,000 francs annually. The loan, it is thought, will succeed. It is proposed to place boxes in all places of public resort, including the churches, to receive contributions toward paying off the indemnity. The postal service has been entirely re-established. The census of England and Wales shows a population of 22,700,000, and that of Ireland, 5,400,000. Mr. Schenck will present his credentials to the Queen on Friday. Earl de Grey has been made Marquis of Ripon.

From the papers of the 23th we learn that Gambetta refuses to recognize the authority of the French Assembly. The Count of Paris will leave England for Paris to-day. Marshal MacMahon will remain at the head of the French army. The grand review will take place on Sunday. A bill authorizing street railroads in London has been rejected by the House of Commons. Twenty-three soldiers have been killed and many wounded by a railroad accident in Germany. It has been announced in the Cortes that Cuba will be held by Spain while men and money last.

From the papers of the 24th we learn that a serious quarrel occurred on the Paris boulevards, yesterday, between some Prussian officers and the promenaders. Military law is to be continued in Paris until after the elections. The stringency of the passport system has been increased. Two attacks on royal privileges were defeated in the English House of Commons. Prince Arthur is to be created Duke of Ulster. A severe engagement has occurred in Santo Domingo, Cabral being defeated with heavy loss. Guzman is again secure in position in Venezuela, having bought off his most formidable opponent.

From the papers of the 26th we learn that the leaders of the Republican movement in France are daily receiving accessions to the ranks. The Orleanists propose, in case they obtain a majority in the Assembly, to offer the crown to the Count de Chambord. Forty-seven ships of war have been dismantled and 13,000 sailors discharged. There is great distress among the poorer classes in Paris. Earl Granville and the Marquis of Ripon spoke on the Treaty of Washington at the Cobden banquet. The Spanish Ministry have resigned, Marshal Serrano being given the task of organizing a new ministry. A revolt is in progress in the Feejee Islands, cannibalism being indulged in.

Opinions Rendered at the Supreme Court for this District at the present Term.

We are indebted to the Raleigh Telegram for the following summary of opinions rendered by the Supreme Court for this District:

R. G. Cowper, Adm'r., vs. W. A. Moore from Hertford. No error. Judgment affirmed.

An administrator in Virginia can assign in this State a note of his intestate to a citizen of this State without taking out letters of administration here. After the institution of a suit, the defendant cannot purchase a demand on plaintiff and have the same allowed, either as a set-off or counter claim, although it is alleged and shown that plaintiff is insolvent.

READE, J.: Vaughan vs. E. A. Martin, from Hertford. Error. "Venire de novo."

Real estate is not assets to pay debts till the same has been sold and the proceeds received by the administrator. Where an administrator, through negligence, fails to obtain an order to sell land to make the same assets on the payment of his debts, whether he can be sued on his bond as administrator—quere?

Thomas W. Hudgins vs. Peter F. White et al., from Chowan. Error.

Under Sec. 133, C. C. P., Judges of Superior Courts may, in their discretion, within one year after notice, release a party from a judgement order obtained through inadvertence, &c., but if a judge refuses to set aside a judgement because he supposed he had not the power, it is erroneous.

By RODMAN, J.: Town of Edenton vs Jacob Wood, et al., from Chowan. No error, judgment affirmed.

The Legislature cannot confer on the Mayor of a town, the Judicial powers of a Justice of the Peace on civil actions, as the Constitution, Art. IV, Sec. 33, confers exclusive original jurisdiction on Justices of the Peace, wherever the sum demanded does not exceed two hundred dollars.

BOYDEN, J.: R. B. Bland vs. Thos. D. Warren and wife, of Chowan county. Judgment affirmed.

Plaintiff offered to prove his claim by showing the entries, in the handwriting of his intestate, and made by him in his account book, involving large transactions between plaintiff's intestate and defendant; Held, That the evidence was incompetent.

General Summary.

A Texas paper records a marriage in which the lady was fifteen years old and a widow.

Kentucky is much moved at the prospective visit of Henry Ward Beecher, who delivers the address at the Agricultural Fair.

Henry Clay's old home, Ashland, has been purchased by the University of Kentucky for $90,000

Gen. T. L. Clingham has written a long and doleful letter urging the necessity for a constitution Convention in North Carolina.

A Kentucky paper notes a rapid development of the temperance reform in that State through the exertions of the Good Templars.

Ladies who wear point lace shawls should know, to appreciate them, that it takes two hundred women for two years, at steady work to finish one.

The Hickory Tavern Eagle is rough on the legal fraternity. It asks:

Why is Hickory Tavern like the Kingdom of heaven? Because there is not a lawyer in it.

A citizen of Connecticut, recently introduced to a newly-married man, congratulated him warmly, and said: "Ah, these Litchfield County girls make clever wives; I've had three of 'em."

A fight between the forces of Baez and Cabral, at San Juan, San Domingo, is reported as having taken place on the 4th inst., in which the latter were worstd. A magazine was fired and much damage done to the town.

In Florida there has much rain fallen recently, and grass is abundant; but cotton is inferior to last year's growth, and may not reach an average crop. In South Carolina enough rain has fallen for three crops, and a falling off in cotton is anticipated.

There is one virtue in the new departure in the eyes of the Cincinnati Enquirer, after all. It says it has stirred up the party, and it intimates that the hearty swearing only proves that the party has "undergone a lively awakening."

Thomas Jefferson and Martin Van Buren have been the only men in the history of this country who have been Governors of the States, holders of first-class foreign missions, heads of Cabinets, Vice-Presidents, and Presidents.

The Lexington (Ky.,) Press calls upon the new-departurists to confine themselves to the State organization to which they belong, and cease meddling with and denouncing those of the South who are not willing to do as they have done.

A white man named Humphries, living in Kingston, Ga., attempted to shoot his wife on Wednesday last, and killed his son, aged thirteen years. He was arrested and lodged in jail. He had previously been imprisoned for attempting to cut his wife's throat.

The Lexington (Ky.) Press again reminds the Democrats of the North that if they care for the support of the Democrats of the South they must exhibit something more of tact and discretion than they have recently in denouncing Jefferson Davis and "the Confederate cause."

The Richmond Enquirer calls Toombs and Stephens a pair of fools, and freely expresses the opinion that the former especially would be much more of a success in a lunatic asylum than he is in the role of a retired statesman, or than he was during the war as a Brigadier-General.

Northern Democratic papers seem to be vainly trying to convince their readers that Jeff. Davis, instead of being put in charge of an insurance company, where his popularity among the Southern people could be made to pay, should have been sent to some Home of the Friendless.

Later advices from the West and California narrate the details of recent Indian outrages in Arizona and Texas. One man was tortured to death by fire, and the other butchered. A body of Government troops report having killed forty-three Apaches and recovered a large quantity of stolen property.

In the case of Anthony H. Swazey, vs. The North Carolina Railroad Company and David A. Jenkins, Public Treasurer of North Carolina, Judge Bond has decided that the North Carolina Railroad Company, its officers and directors, be restrained by the injunction from paying to the defendant the dividends.

A girl with a "ringing laugh" caused an alarm of fire the other day. They took her for a belle.

The wife of the late sheriff in Jones county presented him with thee additional heirs last Saturday, all doing well. So says the Newbern Republican.

The last new name for the "new departure" is "Mulatto Democrats." They have been so dubbed by that able and influential Democratic ex-mayor, Richard Vaux of Philadelphia.

The young man Harris, charged with robbing the U. S. mail, and convicted of the crime a few days ago in the U. S. circuit court, was Friday sentenced to ten years imprisonment.

Wm. G. Bryan, Esq., on Friday sued the county of Craven, for two claims, one for $153,84, and the other for $193,66, and obtained judgement by failure of defendant to appear.

Wade Hampton, Gen. Forrest, Jacob Thompson and other prominent confederates, are respectfully invited by the Lynchburg Virginian to keep away from the Democratic National Convention, "for obvious reasons." It wants only "discreet citizens" to go.

There is an advantage in being fat. A few nights ago a bulky lady in Bridgeport, Conn., alarmed by the approach of burglars, leaped out of bed with such force that she shook the house from garrat to cellar, awakening a male lodger who slept on the lower floor and frightening away the burglars before they had time to secure anything.

Several years ago, a Virginia planter gave one of his slaves, a likely boy, his freedom. After the war the planter removed to Oregon, and recently he has received from the negro, as a token of remembrance and gratitude, the right to manufacture and sell in the Pacific States a patent window-fastener invented by him.

A Democratic paper in Kentucky refuses to recognize any necessity for the organs of the New Departure to disturb the grave of the Confederacy. It says that, however necessary it may be for the Northern Democracy to accept the principles of the Radical Party, there is no reason in the world why journals professedly Democratic should play the jackal and dig up a dead and buried cause in order to heap insult and contumely upon those who fought in its support.

PLAYED OUT.—Nothing is so plain to the people as the vain attempt of the Legislature to deceive them by attempting to restrict the Convention on the Homestead question. In the first place there is not a cross road lawyer in the State that does not know that the Legislature cannot restrict a Convention; and in the second place even if the Convention were to keep faith, and not touch the question, they would effectually provide for an overruling of the opinion sustaining it by displacing the present Supreme Court and appointing in their stead Messrs. W. H. Battle, Judge Merrimon and others whom they know are committed, to the unconstitutionality of the act. But gentlemen the people are not to be deceived so easily.—Era

It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good. After the battle of Waterloo, the London dentists supplied themselves with natural teeth for their patients from that quarter, for dental surgery was then in its infancy. Now, we are told that a German writer urges that the present is an excellent opportunity of making, from recent Franco-Prussian battle-fields, a fine collection of skulls, to aid in the study of craniology and ethnology. Now is the time, thinks one doctor, for securing a beautiful collection of the craniums of Turcos and other Africans who were represented in the French Army. It is rather a grim harvest to glean a gory field; but, as mere phrenological curiosities, we should think the skulls to be obtained in Paris would be the most curious.

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects. They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequaled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the System in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples,

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisements in this issue.

Atlantic Hotel.
Excursion.
Juniper Post.
Discussion.
Lightning Rod.
Annual Meeting.
New-York Advertisements.

Local and Personal.

☞ Several communications again crowded out.

☞ After this week we are to have a Daily Mail.

☞ Court in Dare this week. Many of the Members of our Bar are absent attending it.

☞ J. H. SHAW, Esq., was at Raleigh arguing some important cases in the Supreme Court.

☞ The Democrats of Perquimans have nominated T. G. SKINNER, Esq., as their candidate for Convention.

☞ Mr. MAGEE does not forget the printer these warm days. While most people remember the Editor, he thinks of the Devil.

☞ By announcement in our advertising columns it will be seen that the candidates in Chowan propose a general canvas and discussion.

☞ The Steamer Hertford having been chartered for a trip to Plymouth, the Nag's Head excursion will not take place on the 4th as announced. For terms and time of starting see advertisement.

☞ We learn that several marriageable young ladies about town are rejoicing because next year is leap year. Just see if they don't make their backward lovers come to time!

☞ The Era says that if a man does not advertise, it is safe to presume that he is afraid to let the public know how small and poor his stock is. There is something in it.

☞ Read the proceeding of the Chowan Convention on our first page. It was harmonious and the resolutions have the sound of the true metal. There will be a good report from that county on the first Thursday in August.

☞ Remember the County meeting in the Court-House on Saturday to nominate a candidate against Convention. Let every man opposed to the revolutionary schemes of the Democracy attend.

☞ As the City Fathers have agreed to furnish the material and light all lamps put up in the City let every public spirited citizen contribute his part in having lamps, on neat posts, put up on every public street and corner. "Let there be light."

☞ On Saturday last our townsman W. H. CLARK dug and shipped seven barrels of Potatoes raised from a patch of ground 100 feet long and 36 feet wide. They were planted on the 29th of April. A good yield. Who can beat it?

☞ We are glad to learn that the Ice Cream Feast on Friday evening last was sufficiently patronized to raise funds enough to meet the object intended. We know it was a worthy one. The lady under whose auspices it was gotten up deserves much credit for her disinterested efforts. She requests us to return thanks to the pulic for its patronage.

☞ Once for all we would say that the subscription price of the NORTH CAROLINIAN is Two Dollars when paid in advance. When not paid thus, it is Two Dollars and Fifty cents a year. Those who have taken our paper two years, and have not paid for it, owe us Five Dollars. This is our reply to those who write us to send their bill. By referring to our published terms they could have obtained the information without this extra trouble and expense.

☞ The Pitts Chapel at Beech Grove, this county, was dedicated on the 18th inst. The regular dedication ceremonies were performed by Rev. WM. H. PITTS. The first lesson was for 2 Chronicles 6 chapter 18—33 verses inclusive. The second lesson Hebrews 10 chapter 19—26 verses inclusive. The Pastor preached a practical discourse from the text 2 Chronicles 8th verse. After the sermon the 122 Psalm was read. We learn that $25,25 was collected, being contributed by the members.

☞ The Steamer Hertford will commence making her regular trips to Nag's Head on Saturday, July 1st. She has been remoddled and refitted by Capt. JAMES BAGLEY who is a practical Machinist and Engineer and who has charge of the Steamer. He has made it a neat, comfortable and faster sailing vessel, and by a test trip we witnessed one day last week, instead of taking from ten to twelve hours to go to Nag's Head we are satisfied she will make the trip in less than six.

☞ As elsewhere announced, this number begins the third volume of the NORTH CAROLINIAN. For the two years of its existence it has had an extensive circulation and among its patrons has made many friends. It hopes to retain them all for another year, besides adding many new ones to the number. We are sorry to be obliged to drop a number who have proven delinquent. Possibly may have been forgetfulness on their part, but, while small amounts individually, they make large ones in the aggregate, and we have resolved not to carry the load any longer. Newspaper subscriptions should be paid promptly. We trust our friends will not delay their remittances. We intend to do our full duty towards them. We hope they will not fail to do theirs towards us. We would be glad if they were all so prompt as to make it unnecessary for us to allude to this disagreeable subject again.

☞ Will the Philadelphia Market Journal give us credit for the editorials taken from the NORTH CAROLINIAN?

☞ We sincerely regret to learn of the serious illness of our esteemed friend C. W. HOLLOWELL, Esq. We are happy to learn that he is now out of danger.

☞ BAGLEY LOWE, of Mount Hermon, this county, died on the 24th inst, aged near 75 years. He was much esteemed by all who knew him.

☞ S. S. FOWLER has just returned from Philadelphia. His large store room will be ready to fill up with goods in a few days.

☞ We just have time before going to press to say that the Address of our young townsman WALTER F. POOL last evening was excellent and well delivered.

☞ A correspondent informs us that our young friend J. Q. A. WOOD delivered an interesting Sabbath School Address at Mount Hermon on Sunday last. The effort is highly spoken of.

☞ The kind lady who sent us the Cake and Wine the other day will accept our grateful acknowledgements. She is noted for her deeds of charity and benevolence and the fact that she remembered the Editor is evidence that she is enlarging her missionary field of "doing good."

☞ The proceedings of the Perquimans county Republican Convention are published in this issue. Hon. J. W. ALBERTSON was unanimously selected as the standard bearer in the present canvas. He will make a vigorous and efficient one.

☞ The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Edenton and Norfolk Rail Road Company will be held at Edenton on the 29th of July. The President informs us that they are working with much hope to build the road by the 1st of February next.

☞ The time is near at hand for the nomination of candidates for the Township offices. Let no man—white or black—aspire for position who is not qualified. Let no man unfitted for the office be nominated. Let our Republican friends be guarded in this particular. The charge has been made that too many ignorant and totally unqualified persons have been nominated and elected. And this has not been confined to color. Let a course be pursued this time that will no longer make this charge a truthful one.

OUR LOCAL PORT-FOLIO.

A waste of colors—ladies blushing unseen. A popular Banker—R. F. Overman of the Manufacturing Loan and Trust Company. A big crowd last Thursday—at Weisels. Neat clean and good as new—the Steamer Hertford. If you have anything to sell—advertise in the NORTH CAROLINIAN. Making great improvements—lawyer Smith at the Cottage. A beautiful but useless insect, without wings, whose colors fade on being removed from the sunshine—a belle. A two foot rule—don't stumble. The great ocean race—fishes. Lots of 'em—pretty girls in Elizabeth City. The end of a candle—to give light. Still they go—to Keatons. Shakespear on the New Departure—"assume a virtue of you have it not." A good tonic for debilitated young ladies—iron. A better tonic for them—ironing. Can see as well as ever—the young lady who "dropped" her eyes on meeting her beau on the street. The shape of a kiss according to the authority of our Devil—elliptical (a lip tickle.) Take time to deliberate, but when the hour of action arrives, stop thinking, and go it. Gets licked and put in a corner—a postage stamp. An antidote for hot weather—Dr. Butt's iced Soda Fountain. Leads a placid life—an oyster until it gets in a stew. Worst seat to sit on—self conceit. Ever green—those who don't take the paper, especially the NORTH CAROLINIAN. Pride goeth before a—"waterfall". Still making good meal—the little Steam Mill. Kept busy—the knights of the Paint Brush.

Business Locals.

The Nag's Head season opens on Saturday. It is not yet too late to procure good rooms. Apply to J. M. Whedbee, of this place, or A. E. Jacobs, of Norfolk. Arrangements are being made to make the guests at the Hotel comfortable—the time to pass pleasantly—and therein to obtain all the benefits of the place and season. For invalids and children whose health is not robust Nag's Head is not surpassed in the United States. The bathing, the refreshing breeze from the ocean, the fish, and other healthful delicacies all combine to restore and invigorate.

A STUBBORN FACT.—There is scarcely any disease in which purgative medicines are not more or less required, and much suffering might be prevented were they more generally used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails; besides it soon generates serious diseases which might have been avoided by a timely use of Cathartic Medicines. For this purpose Dr. Tutt's Vegetable Liver Pills are confidently recommended; they are mild, safe, prompt and uniform in their action. They contain no Mercury. Persons may eat and drink as usual, and they may be taken at any time.

Keaton is always ready to accommodate his customers. He tries to furnish a good article, and to put the prices down to the lowest figure.

Mr. Toombs Interviewed—What He has to say.

A correspondent has been interviewing Mr. Robert Toombs, of Georgia. The following are the questions and answers:

Question.—"what do you think of the new departure of the Northern Democracy as expounded by Vallandigham and the Pennsylvania Convention? Shall you support it?"

Mr. Toombs.—"Never. I would sooner vote for Horace Greely than for any Democrat upon such a platform. Greeley and the Republicans first got it up; it is their patent, and I have more respect for them than for such scoundrels as Vallandigham, who wants to steal their ideas."

Question.—"What do you look forward to in the future? How can you escape the results of the war?"

Mr. Toombs.—"We will fight you again just as soon as we can get ready and I believe we can get ready sooner than most people think."

Question.—"You can not seriously believe that the South will attempt another war?"

Mr. Toombs.—"I certainly do and I believe I shall live to see Southern independence. Many of our people are losing the hope that they will see 'Shiloh' in their day, but they are training their children to take up the work."

In reply to the query whether he thought immigration desirable for the South, Mr. Toombs said: "No, we don't want Northern men to come here; let them stay at home where they belong." He adds: "We don't want to have anything to do with you. We had the satisfaction of killing more than 200,000 of you, and if my advice had been followed, the war would not have ended until we had killed more."

A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas it has been made to appear to me on the written affadavit of John L. Wood, Sheriff of Pasquotank county, N C, that he has a capias in his hands for the arrest of Jonathan Tweedy, indicted for larceny in the county of Tyrrell; that said Tweedy flees from justice, conceals himself and evades arrest and service of the usual process of the law,

And whereas it has been further made to appear, that said Tweedy goes constantly armed and is prepared, at all times, to resist the execution of lawful process—and that he lurks and conceals himself in the county of Pasquotank.

Now therefore, I, C. C. Pool, a Judge of the Superior Court, do issue this proclamation, commanding the said Tweedy to forthwith surrender himself—empowering and requiring the said Jno. L. Wood Sheriff to take such power with him as he shall think fit and necessary to search for, pursue and arrest said Tweedy; and if the said fugitive from justice shall continue to stay out, lurk and conceal himself, and do not immediately surrender himself, any citizen of the State may capture, arrest and bring him to justice, and in case of flight or resistance by him, after being called on and warned to surrender, may slay him.

Given under my hand and seal of office, at Elizabeth City, this 21st day of June A D 1871.

C. C. POOL,
Judge Superior Court.

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

Management of Manures and Grass Lands.

Owing to the dry weather in this valley last fall, and in many other parts of the State, the wheat, though sown in good season, made but a very moderate start before cold weather; and to this circumstance chiefly, we are to attribute the fact that the yield has been less than a full crop. Good farmers generally sow grass seed with their wheat in the fall, and add the clover seeds in the spring. The dry fall was followed by a still more remarkable dry spring, and as a consequence, we have now on our wheat stubbles, less than half the grass and clover that ought to be there.

What shall we do? Many farmers will say—"let it go as it is." But this would be the worst possible economy. Better plow and sow another crop of wheat, though we lose all the seeds sown last fall and spring. Nothing in our business is more important than a good, thick stand of grass. The meadows should always be made to produce two tons of hay to the acre, and the pastures should never be allowed to get "thin."

I intend in a few weeks, if the weather is not too dry, to sow my wheat stubbles over again, and harrow the seeds in. Grass seed should always be harrowed in or brushed, when it is practicable to do so. There is usually great loss in allowing the seeds to remain on the surface, unless the ground is in a very mellow condition. Should there be moisture enough to make the sowing safe as early as the first to the middle of August, I will sow the clover and timothy together, but if it should not be so, I will sow the timothy in September, and the clover on the snow, in the spring.

After a good deal of experience and observation, I am satisfied that our chief reliance must be clover and timothy for seeding pastures and meadows. Blue grass is of great value—the best we have for permanent pasture, but in this valley it works in of itself, if the ground is in proper condition, as it does indeed, on most of the good lands all over the State. It does not do well in a very stiff, undrained clay, nor on a light soil. It flourishes best on a loam, (by which I mean clay, with an intermixture of sand,) resting upon a limestone rock. This seems to be the character of the soil in the far-famed blue grass regions of Kentucky, with oxide of iron, which gives it a dark red appearance.

A good deal is said in the papers about manuring grass lands, a practice that I am greatly in favor of, as being as profitable a method as we can adopt, and disposing of our barnyard manures. I would certainly apply it all, either to the grass or to the corn land, and perhaps with land requiring a rotation of crops, better results are obtained by giving the manure to the grass, thus insuring a thick, stiff sod to plow under for the corn, which is more valuable on account of its mechanical effect in loosening a clay soil for a corn crop, than the direct application of barnyard manure. At what time should the manure be applied? A statement has been going the rounds of the papers in favor of making the applications to meadows immediately after mowing. In England this is the common practice. With us, there are two objections to it, first, that we usually have not only very hot, but very dry weather in August and the first half of September, which must certainly cause the evaporation of much of the fertilizing matter from the manure thus spread upon the surface. And, because our summers are so hot and dry, it is not profitable to keep manure on hand until after harvest, to be thus applied.

But in England the case is entirely different—their summers are cool and moist, and their meadows after harvest, are usually coated with luxurirnt "aftermath," as fresh and green as our first crop of spring grass.

I conclude, therefore, that we have no way for it but to apply the manure to our grass lands in the fall, if we have been so unwise as to keep any over through the summer. But a better and cheaper way, is to apply as we make it through the winter. Haul out on a sled or wagon, and spred it as evenly as possible, as you unload it. There is no sense in throwing it off in heaps. By spreading from the load, there is not only a great saving of time, but the benefit to the land will be greater and more evenly distributed. Nor is there any loss sustained by leaving it spread upon the surface in the winter.

I have frequently tried this method, not only upon grass, but upon wheat, and have been surprised at its success in every instance; even long, green manure spread out on wheat in the winter, has always increased the crop.—T. C. Jones. —Delaware, Ohio, in Ohio Farmer.

Very encouraging reports of the Indian tribes in Nebraska are furnished by the Quaker agents who have charge of them. The tribes in this State are better civilized than in any other district excepting the Indian Territory in which the Cherokees and Choctaws are located. The nature of the civilizing influences employed there and the results thus far obtained are favorably set forth in the report published elsewhere.

California supplements its many other monstrosities with a dog with two heads, each of which barks on its responsibility, and either of which can wag the tail, unless there chances to be a difference of opinion between them, when the right head, having, evidently, the strongest will, wags the tail or keeps it still, as it prefers! How this fact has been ascertained the account fails to explain.

A patient complained to his physician that he was pursued by a ghost the night before, as he was going home from the tavern. "What shape was it?" asked the doctor. "In the shape of a jackass," said the man. "Go home," replied the physician, "and keep sober. You were drunk last night, and frightened at your own shadow."

It is related that when James Russell Lowell was last in Rome, a mendicant monk met the poet in the Corso one day, and asked for a contribution to repair a monastery. "You should not ask me for aid," remarked Lowell in choice Tuscan, "for I am a heretic." "That makes no difference," replied the astute fair, "Your money is orthodox." The poet appreciated the witticism, and made the contribution asked for.

A Western Journal suggests that "if the Democratic papers had only shown one-half the zeal in fighting Jeff. Davis when he was President of the Rebel Confederacy that they now evince in fighting him when he is only the President of a Life Insurance Company, they would have done the State some service."

Judge David Davis is to undertake the examination of the papers of President Lincoln. He will devote the Summer, at his home in Springfield, to this task, and to their revision for publication.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalisis and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotauk county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C, for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3,000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3,000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3,500, $7,00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., which cost over $15,000 (two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses, Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultiuation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A tract of valuable land, containing 356 acres, with fine two story dwelling containing 9 rooms and cook-room. Servant's house with 3 rooms, large barns and stables, all necessary and convenient out-houses, 3 tenant-houses near town, and immediately on the River. About 100 acres of this land is in fine wood and timber, balance in a fine state of cultivation. It has 8,000 grape vines one year old, 3,500 peach, apple and dwarf pear trees, five acres in strawberries which yielded an immence profit this year, ten acres in Lawton and other rare varieties of black-berries, 15 to 20,000 young peach trees with other choice fruits too numerous to mention. This farm has a public road on one side, and the River on the other, where strangers come daily to the landings to receive the fruits and vegetables, and carry them down to Norfolk, Baltimore, Phila., or New York. The land is finely adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, and all other field crops.

The owner of this farm offers to sell in tracts, to suit purchasers, say in 50 to 100 acre tracts, and at prices ranging from 35 to $80 per acre, according to location, buildings, &c.

There is also on this farm a fine fishery, where a seine 1,000 yards long, and 20 feet deep is hauled every Spring. Herring, Shad, Rockfish, Sturgeon and other valuable fish, are caught by thousands at every draw of the seine. And the profits are frequently large. This fishery of itself is worth nearly as much as is charged for the whole property. The terms will be liberal. This is probably the finest opportunity offered any where for a profitable investment.

☞ Fishery has an office, and two houses for hands besides fish house. Then some 500 to 1,000 loads of best fish manure on hand, besides over 5,000 loads of compost made ready for use. This goes with the farm.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The Land and Lumber Company having a large amount of Real Estate of their own to dispose of, and their business having increased to such an extent, they think it prudent to decline acting further as Commission Agents for the sale of lands belonging to others. They will however be glad at all times to furnish every facility to parties coming to Elizabeth City with a desire to look at the country and make purchases if they find it to their interest to do so.

The following list of property, owned by the Company, is offered for sale on the most reasonable terms. Their object now is to acquire a larger monied capital for the purpose of further developing their unimproved lands and carrying out their original design of increasing the Commerce and General Trade of Elizabeth City.

As there are others in the Commission Business, parties are referred to their advertisement for further information.

ELIZABETH CITY.

The following desirable list of Properties in Elizabeth City are offered at very reduced prices for cash or on time payments at rates which make any of them excellent investments for capitalists. We feel confident that this City is destined to become a large place and property will advance rapidly. Emigration is now tending Southernward and the feeling is in universal favor toward Elizabeth City.

A large two-story dwelling known as the Parsonage, with fine double Piazza, front and back, large out kitchen, stables, carriage house, with 17 acres of ground well enclosed. This ground is all within the corporation of the City, and is well situated to lay out in building lots and make out of it ten fold the price asked for it.

A two-story dwelling containing ten rooms, 10,000 gallon cistern and all necessary out-houses, with large lot. Situated on Main Street. A Vacant Lot no better located and not so large as this was sold recently for $1600 cash.

A large brick store house and wharf situate on Water street; in E. City, comprising three lots with 400 feet of water front. permanently wharfed for the accommodation of large vessels. There is erected on these lots a large two-story brick building, 50 by 80 feet, well fitted up for a wholesale or retail trade at present occupied by the "Yankee Store."

A large wood store on west side of Water street 36 by 60, two stories high, being one of the best stands on Water street for merchandizing.

A House and Lot on Riverside Avenue. House 20ft front by 50 ft deep. Containing eight rooms with Pantry and Cellar, all well finished. modern style, and having all necessary out buildings. The Wharf Lots are 200ft deep and will be sold to any size desired along the River. Among them are some most eligible situations for Store Houses, Mills and Manufactories of any kind as there is a fine harbor immediately in front of them, having 30ft of water, sufficient for vessels of any capacity. Along Pennsylvania Avenue are offered some of the finest and choicest lots, for dwellings in town at prices varying according to location. This will be the finest street in town, is 80 feet wide, size of Lot 100ft front by 200ft deep. There are now a number of first class residences being erected on this street. Immediately in the vicinity of these Lots the Company have erected a large Planing Mill, Sash, Blind and Door Factory at a cost of near $20,000 and also their Saw Mill at a cost of near $15,000. That now is the proper time to invest in those Lots there can be no doubt, as they will double in value in a very short time. Lots not near so good as these, are now selling in other parts of the City at more than double the price asked for these.

Good timber land bordering on the water is valuable both for wood as well as saw timber as water transportation affords a good margin for wood, say one dollar per cord. This will also make good farm land—will be sold for one thousand dollars.

Also one other tract of land containing 154 acres situated immediately on the Pasquotank River ten miles from Elizabeth City, valuable for wood, and is excellent farming lands, would be sold for six dollars per acre.
